Form 990, Part VI, Section A, line 4:

o The bylaws now formalizes what each committee's purpose is and that the board governs the committees.

o Section 1 now defines the terms used throughout the document.

o Section 3 now defines what a member is and how the annual meeting of members works.

o The restated bylaws make it clear how to participate in meetings electronically.

o The BODs governing powers are made clear. The number of directors on the board will be between 13-19 members. The maximum number of members was increased from 17 to 19 since there are several ex-officio members on the BODs.

o The board determines the number of committees. Also, it clarifies that the board will approve all committee members and will appoint committee chairs.

o The bylaws outline the duties of each committee.

o A Nominating Committee was added. This is very common and important for a non-profit organization. The nominating committee would develop a matrix to help identify potential candidates for the board and committees when vacancies occur.

o The CFO was added as a foundation officer. As the Foundation has grown, the role of a CFO has become critical to the success of the NSUF. Other officers include the President/CEO and one or more Vice-Presidents as deemed necessary by the President. The CEO oversees all the foundation Director elections will be held in accordance with the Bylaws and procedures established by the Board.
